To the Reader.

Lthough I fynde (gentle reader) by the influence of the planettes and disposition of the signes, that this yere present shalbe at some seasons in diuers respectes very yll and vnfortunate, by reason of their settled inclinations to euyll, and that there shall raigne many daungerous diseases; as appeareth in my Prognostication: yet woulde I not haue thee to thyinke that euery particuler therein conteined must of force happen, or necessarily come to passe. For suche is the goodnes of God towards mankynd, that when he threatneth any plagues vnto vs, as a punishment for wicked lyfe, he wyll not immediatly oppres vs with the same, but rather by some meanes or other forewarne vs of suche his displeasure conceaued, that we fearyng his rod, may geue our selues to true repentaunce and amendment of life, imploring his mercie, causyng hym therby to withdrawe his heauy hande from vs, and turne away the daungers imminent. Neither hath God at any tyme, or by any meanes, more manifested and declared such his pretended threatenynges then by thinclinatiō of the signes and planettes, as doth sufficiently appeare and is wel knownen vnto the learned without further discourse. And whereas I haue also prognosticated of great discord, variaunce, and contention lyke to happen betweene many (with some warres and bloodshed perhappes) and haue spoken of deceytes and disagreeementes among marchauntes in bargaynynges, of great robberies to be committed by sea and lande, and such lyke &c. Surely I fynde by thinclination of the starres that euyl disposed persons shalbe more redy to such vices then at some other times: notwithstanding they may suppress that froward euyl nature by wisdom and moral vertue. For this may truely be sayde, Hominem, in superiorum potestatum, posse aut flecti, aut inclinari, minime eundem posse cogi, that is to say, man, by force of supernall powers may be bent or inclined, but not by any meanes constrained.

To the Reader.

ned. For saith Aristotle, Si mens obnoxia esset cælo, vanæ essent consultationes, omnesq; morales atque ciuiles scientiæ corruerent, super vacantiæq; essent leges, atq; institutiones. VVe see therfore that the starres do not gouerne after the wyll of man, although mans wyll through his owne wekenesse is sometimes found subiect to their inclinations, which causeth no grounded credit alwayes to be geuen to iudgementes, foretellynges, and prognostications, in the which humane factes are spoken of: and yet is the most worthy scyence of Astronomie nothyng the lesse to be esteemed, wherby we attaine to the knowledge of thynges wonderfull. &c.

The premisses therfore considered, I pray thee (gentle reader) vse such indifferencie in iudgement, as thou do not mislyke without iust cause: so shall I thynke my labour very well bestowed, yf I vnder-stand the same to be wel accepted of thee.

I shall perceauē the same to be well taken some thynges worth the knowledge.

FARE VVEL.

A Prognostication.

Of the foure quarters of the yere, and first of the VVynter.

The wynter quarter Astronomicall of this yere 1570. dyd take his begynnyng the eleuenth day of December last past in the yere 1569. When as the Sunne entred the first minute of Capricorne, at vii. of the clock xvi. minutes in the forenoone, and shall continue vntyl the eleuenth day of Marche next folowing, that the Sunne enter into Aries. And Jupiter beyng lord ascendent in this entryng of the sunne into Capricorne, doth signifie the wynter at the begynnyng to be wyndye, with great stormes, much rayne, snowe, and colde, which shalbe very hurtfull both for man and beast, and towarde the ende temperate. Jupiter also doth signifie the increase of goodes and substance, but specially to the Iouistes, and geueth good fortune and honour, promysyng also encrease of corne & frutes, by sturrying vp in the ayre holssome wyndes and temperate raynes. Moreover he yeeldeth vnto Maryners and sea faryng men good successe and prosperitie. And Mercury beyng Lorde of the seventh house, and in the xxvi. degree of Sagittarius, doth apply hym selfe vnto Jupiter, so that he betokeneth good luck in contract of matrimonie.

Also

A Prognostication.

Also Mercury beyng in the house of Iupiter shall cause variable weather, stormes, and troublous wyndes, with fearefull thunder, & castyng sooth fyre, doyng much harme, great troubles and sorowe shall happen by reason of losses of goodes and cattell, many robberyes, great deceyte betweene frendes, and oppzessyng of wyddowes & fatherlesse chyldzen, with surmysyng of newes, much daungerous sickenesse, as swell yng in the throte, paulsies, retumes, distyll yng from the head, stopping in the byesses, coughes, pluriticks, and such lyke.

Of the Spryng tyme.

The Spryng doth begyn the eleuenth day of Marche, xxviii. minutes after noone, the Sunne entryng the first minute of Aries, and continueth vntyll the xii. of June, the Moone beyng Lady of thascendent, whiche betokeneth plentie of fysh, waterfoule greatly increasynge and multipliyng in the seas, ryuers, and watry places, and vnto Maryners good health and prosperous fortune, with great encrease of substance. This Spryng tyme shalbe moyste, somewhat wyndy, and temperate in coldenesse, much variaunce, crafty dealyng, sedition, stryfe, and contention among marchauntes concerning bargaynes and agreements, rumours of warres, secrete sedition for landes and hereditamentes,

A Prognostication.

prouoking the heartes of diuers persons, and causing stryfe, warres, and bloodshed, great robberyng both by lande and seas, many diseases shall daungerously raigne this tyme, as sycknes of the head, franxies, mania malincolia, catharres, fistulaes, canckers, vlcers, leproosies, pimples in the face, swellynge, and other strange diseases, which God of his mercy delouer vs from.

Of the Sommer.

The Sommer begynneth the twelfth day of June at ten of the clocke xxiii. minutes in the foze noone, the Sunne entryng in the first minute of Cancer, signe tropicall, and continueth vntyll the xiii. of September. Here the seconde and thirde face of Virgo is ascendent, and Mercury lord, which betokeneth prosperous byrth of chyldren, but daungerous delueraunce to the mothers. The weather in this quarter shalbe temperate, and much drought. There shal appeare in the ayre strange syghtes, darke cloudes, with troublesome wynde, byngyng some shoures, great audacitie in executyng of iustice, and much clemencie vsed therein, the obtaynyng of great promotions by the learned, wysedome, & moral vertue, faithfulness in bargaynes, & agree-mentes of matrimonie. In this Sommer shalbe daungerous syckneses, as agues, franxies, trouble,

A Prognostication.

blesomnesse of mynde, because of cholericke blood flamynge by into the head, hotte reumes distyl-lynge, impediments in the eyes, squynances, with swellyng in the throte, blcers in the mouth, goutes, paynes in the ioyntes, inflammation in the lyuer, and the yellowe faunders, and suche lyke.

Of the Haruest.

Haruest begynneth the xij. day of September, at viij. of the clocke iiii. minutes in the euenyng, the Sunne entryng in the first minute of Libra. In this entryng of the Sunne into Libra, Scorpio is founde in the viij. house, Mars Lord, which betokeneth great discention and variaunce, with forcyng of men and women, enemie to naturall loue, great felonie committed, much deceypt towarde women, many robberies, causyng sorowe and calamitie, enrychyng masters of prysons, good successe vnto husbandmen by encrease of cozne and graine, but especially of wheate and rye. In the ende of Haruest many dayes good and decent to set, plante, and graffe, which shall prosper, heauynesse and betwaylyng amongst many, secrete sedition pretended, a motion of warre and discorde amongst some. Dangerous syckneses shalbe in this quarter, as tympanies, hardnesse of the belly, obstruction of the splenes, opilation of the lyuer, agues, especially quartanes, consumption of the flesh, and weaknes of the body, many diseases in the eyes, the stone, and strangulion. &c. But God is all in all, and yf we turne vnto hym in faythfull repentaunce, he wyll also turne vnto vs, and those euyls which for our synnes are ap-pertainent vnto vs, he wyll turne them into his good blessinges.
